It is best to clean once in the morning and once in the evening. Every time you clean your scarification, it will kill some of your white blood cells, the time you wait in between cleanings will allow some of your white blood cells to regenerate.

When caring for a new scarification, ALL proper first aid wound care protocol must be followed.

Be sure not to cross contaminate any of your aftercare items and to store them in a clean dry safe place and handle with CLEAN hands only!!

Always wash your hands thoroughly for 30 seconds before starting your cleaning regimen!

For the first 48 hrs and for up to at least a week afterward, we suggest keeping your scar covered and changing this bandage morning and evening, being sure to use proper care management techniques.

Keeping the area covered for a week is ideal but, these bandages can become quite uncomfortable to wear and it's not uncommon for people to develop a heat rash or experience irritation from the medical tape. Try to keep it covered for at least 48 hrs minimum!

Wash the scar with an antibacterial soap in the shower. Be careful as the area will be sensitive and the heat from the shower can be a shock!

After the shower, allow the scar to air dry for an hour. DO NOT use a towel as they will harbor bacteria; single use and disposable products only!

When the scar is completely dry, with a gloved hand, apply a thin layer of Vaseline to the scar.

Once coated in Vaseline, apply a clean barrier (SaranWrap) to temporarily cut off oxygen to the area; tape this in place.

Be aware that when temporarily removing oxygen, the wound can look aggravated, red, swollen and a clear fluid may appear; if all aftercare protocol has been followed, this is normal.

The Rules

Do NOT touch your scarification with dirty hands, EVER!!

Stay out of hottubs, swimming pools, lakes and rivers for at least 2 months after your procedure. This includes your bathtub as it can harbor bacteria as well!

Try to reduce friction as this is one of the worst enemies of a healing scar. Friction can lead to too much or uneven scar tissue build up.

Do not over clean as this can be as harmful as under cleaning.

Be cautious of body washes and shampoos as both can be a source of irritation.

Do NOT pick at the scabs of your scar, it is unnecessary and can lead to uneven scarring.
